

The Listing Presentation

Question-led. Never present a section cold. Ask, they answer, you show that section and tie it to what they said, then the next question opens the next section. The deck is your visual aid, not your script.

0. Set the frame

Deck: no deck

YOU ASK

"Before I show you anything, this isn't a canned pitch. I'm going to ask you some things, and every time you answer, I'll show you exactly how we handle it. By the end you'll know your number, the plan, and whether I'm the right person. Sound good? ... Cool. First one."

1. Why selling

Deck: Your Home

YOU ASK

"Walk me through why you're selling, and what the win looks like. Where are you going, and by when?"

Listen for: real motivation, destination, timeline, what matters most (price / speed / a clean move).

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Here's your home on paper. This is what a buyer's agent, and Zillow, price off of, and none of them have seen inside. That gap between the data and the real house is the first place we make you money."

Bridge → "So the question is what it's actually worth. Want to see what's really happening in your market?"

2. The market

Deck: The Market Within 2 Miles + The Market

YOU ASK

"What have you seen selling around here, anything catch your eye, good or bad?"

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Every sale within two miles the last few months, and the trend. The ones priced right were gone in [X] days. The ones that chased the market down sat for [Y] and sold for less."

Bridge → "So how do we make sure yours is the one that's gone in days, not the one that sits? That's pricing."

3. Pricing

Deck: Pricing Your Property (the decay chart)

YOU ASK

"If you had to guess, when does a listing get the most attention: week one, week four, or week eight?" (Most say later. They're wrong. Good.)

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Week one. 7 days is peak attention. After that buyer activity drops, and perceived value drops with it. Homes that sit 24-plus weeks sell about 9% under market. So we don't price to test the ceiling and walk it down. We price to hit that first week hard and create competition."

Bridge → "That only works if enough buyers see it in week one. How do you think most buyers are going to find your house?"

4. Marketing

Deck: Your Marketing Strategy (steps 1–10)

Listen for: they'll answer "Zillow?" / "the sign?"

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Some of them. Here's the whole machine, ten steps. The part most agents skip is Coming Soon, we build a buyer pipeline before it's even live, so day one there's already demand. Then photography, the property site, brokers open, and a paid digital campaign, plus me personally on the phone to agents and neighbors."

Bridge → "And that reach isn't a guess. Want to see the actual numbers?"

5. Reach

Deck: Social Media Online Reach + We Never Miss Buyer Calls

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Last listing: 82,000 views, 37,000 people, 30 days. It takes about 12 touches for a buyer to decide, so we hit them across platforms, repeatedly. And every inquiry, the QR code, the 800 number, a 2am text, gets captured and followed up. Nothing leaks."

Bridge → "So that's the marketing. Who actually does all this while you're living your life?"

6. The team

Deck: Your Team + Home Prep Advisor + Transaction Coordinator + Your Path to Success

YOU ASK

"Have you sold a home before? ... What was the most stressful part?"

Listen for: coordination, communication, the paperwork (usually).

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"That's exactly why it's not just me. I run strategy and negotiation. A Home Prep Advisor gets it show-ready, what to fix, what to skip, staging. A Transaction Coordinator owns every deadline and document from contract to keys, so nothing falls through. This slide is the whole track, start to finish."

Bridge → "Plan's solid, team's solid. Does all this actually get a different result?"

7. The proof

Deck: Faster Sale + More Money + testimonials + About Kyle

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"It does. My listings sell at 101.6% of list versus 100.1% for the average agent, on a home like yours that's real money in your pocket. 7 days on market versus 16. And here's what that's like to go through, from people who did it."

Bridge → "Last thing before we talk number. What's your biggest worry about listing? Be honest."

8. Peace of mind

Deck: Communication Guarantee + Easy Exit Listing Agreement

Listen for: getting stuck with the wrong agent, being left in the dark (usually).

THEN PRESENT (while showing the slide)

"Both of those are covered in writing. Feedback in 48 hours, a call every week, I'm reachable 1 to 5 every day. And if I'm not doing what I said, you fire me. No lengthy contract, no fight. You're never stuck."

Bridge → into the close.

THE CLOSE

“So, that’s how we sell homes for the highest price in the shortest time. You do want to sell your home, right?” — Yes.
 “And have I shown you that I’m the best person to sell it, with the track record and the strategy?” — Yes.
 “Perfect. Next step is the listing paperwork. We get it into the MLS as Coming Soon and start building a pipeline of buyers before it even hits the market. Let’s fill it out.”
 → into paperwork; start filling it in, narrate, go quiet.

If either answer isn’t a clean yes: “What’s the piece that’s not quite there, the price, the plan, the commission, or me?” Handle that one thing, then re-ask the two questions.

THE SPINE (memorize this)

#	You ask	Then present
1	Why selling / where to / by when?	Your Home
2	What have you seen selling nearby?	The Market
3	When does a listing get the most attention?	Pricing decay chart
4	How will buyers find it?	Marketing (10 steps)
5	(show reach numbers)	Social reach + buyer capture
6	Sold before? Most stressful part?	Team + Path + roles
7	(show it gets a different result)	Stats + testimonials + About Kyle
8	Biggest worry about listing?	Guarantees + Easy Exit
9	The close	Listing paperwork