

Selling 1705 Havre De Grace Dr

Woodland Beach, Edgewater MD 21037 · buyers at your door vs. the open market

PREPARED FOR

Jefferson McBride · September 3, 2026 · Kyle Friedman, The Friedman Team

You have buyers knocking. That is a good sign, and it still pays to list.

While you renovate, buyers keep coming to the door asking to buy. That tells you the home is desirable. It does not tell you what it is worth, or that any one of those buyers is the right one. You want to sell to a family. The open market is where that family is, and it is where the price gets set by competition instead of by a single offer.

Who actually knocks on a door mid-renovation

- Investors, flippers, and wholesalers who watch for renovation permits and dumpsters, looking for a discount.
- They are betting you do not have an agent, do not have comps, and want a fast, quiet sale.
- Their offer is built to capture the value your renovation is creating, for themselves.

The family buyer who would love this house is not walking your street mid-reno. They are on Zillow, pre-approved, waiting for it to come on the market finished.

The renovation is the whole point. An un-renovated 3 bedroom this size in Woodland Beach sells around $415,000 to $430,000 (1622 Chesapeake Dr, same 1,668 square feet, sold $430,000). Finished and on the open market, the same size sells at $470,000 to $480,000. That $50,000 spread is what a door buyer wants to keep. Listing keeps it for you.

What the market says your home is worth

Renovated 3 bedroom homes, roughly 1,300 to 1,700 square feet, in Woodland Beach and the adjacent water-privileged communities:

Address	Sold	Bd/Ba	SqFt	Note
1604 Oriole Rd	$480,000 · Jun	3 / 2.1	1,620	updated, Woodland Beach, sold in 13 days
1749 Havre De Grace Dr	$450,000 · Jul	3 / 2	1,312	same street, renovated 2026, smaller
226 Maryland Way	$470,000 · Mar	3 / 2	1,568	water community, 43 days
1622 Chesapeake Dr	$430,000 · Jul	3 / 2	1,668	same size, NOT renovated (the as-is number)
415 Fairmount Dr	$420,000 · Aug	3 / 2	1,200	smaller

Renovated 3-bed comps: the target list is $479,900 (gold)

For contrast: 1635 Fairhill Dr (same 1,632 square feet, one street over) listed at $569,000 and 1533 Mayfield Rd at $495,000. Both withdrew unsold. Above about $485,000, homes this size do not sell here.

Recommended list price: $479,900

Right at the 1604 Oriole Rd ceiling for a renovated home this size, and defensible against every comparable sale. Priced to draw multiple offers and go under contract inside 30 days. Zillow will estimate around $465,000 and some tools higher; the actual closed sales are the truth, and they say $470,000 to $480,000. This assumes the renovation is finished before we photograph and list.

A door offer vs. the open market

	Sell to a door buyer	List on the open market
Who the buyers are	Mostly investors and flippers hunting a discount	Everyone, including pre-approved families
How many offers	One at a time, take it or leave it	Several likely at $479,900
Who picks the buyer	The buyer. You have no leverage.	You do. Prioritize an owner-occupant family.
Likely price	About $420,000 to $445,000 (near as-is)	About $470,000 to $480,000
Commission	None	About 5% (roughly $23,500)
Net before mortgage payoff	About $430,000	About $445,000 to $455,000
Your time and risk	You handle disclosures, contract, financing, inspections	Handled, with a transaction coordinator

Even after a full commission, listing nets roughly $15,000 to $25,000 more than a door offer at as-is value, and more than that against a lowball. Full figures are in the attached Net Proceeds sheet.

You will still sell to a family, and you are more likely to

On the open market you control who buys it. We market to and prioritize owner-occupant buyers, read their cover letters, and put a no-assignment clause and a primary-residence occupancy affidavit in the contract so wholesalers and flippers are screened out. If a family's offer comes in a little under an investor's, that is your call to make, with my advice. With one buyer at your door you get one number and no choice at all.

Bottom line. Listing gets you the buyer you want, more money after commission, and someone handling the paperwork and the financing risk. The only thing a door sale saves is a few weeks, and it costs $15,000 to $45,000 to save them.

How I would sell it

The renovation deserves a launch that shows it off. We build all of this before we go live:

- Professional photography of the finished renovation, with proper lighting and a wide angle lens, plus a twilight exterior.
- A full Matterport 3D tour, an interactive floor plan, and a video walkthrough, so out-of-area and busy buyers can see the whole house before they visit.
- Zillow Showcase, Zillow's premium AI-powered placement, available only through select agents. It puts your listing above standard listings in search with the 3D tour and floor plan built in, and Showcase listings get far more views, saves, and shares.
- A dedicated single-property website, plus syndication to Zillow, Redfin, and realtor.com.
- A Coming Soon runway of about two weeks to build a waiting list of buyers before launch.
- An agent email blast to area brokerages, a public open house the first weekend, a brokers open, and direct calls to agents with active buyers in this price range and this community.
- Paid digital and social across the Annapolis and Anne Arundel buyer market, and a print piece to Woodland Beach and the surrounding streets.

How I protect your goal of selling to a family

- Market language and agent outreach aimed at owner-occupant buyers.
- Offers reviewed with you, including buyer cover letters and lender letters.
- No-assignment clause and a primary-residence occupancy affidavit in the contract.
- You make the final call on which offer to take. It does not have to be the highest.

Communication. Showing feedback to you within 48 hours, a weekly call on traffic and pricing, and calls and emails returned the same day.

Why The Friedman Team

- A team, not one person: Kyle leads strategy, pricing, and negotiation, a Home Prep Advisor helps the finished renovation show its best, and a Transaction Coordinator manages every deadline and document.
- Reach: a recent listing drew over 82,000 views and 37,000 unique viewers on social in 30 days, plus Zillow Showcase premium placement.
- Easy Exit: cancel anytime, no binding contract, no questions asked.
- Experience: licensed since 2018, 10 to 20 sales a year since 2020, residential sales blended with real estate investing, so I know exactly how the buyers at your door think.

"I've been a homeowner for 45-plus years and dealt with a number of realtors, but none like Kyle. He is truly the best: professional, thorough, and an exceptional communicator." — Seller of 7106 Stratos Ln

Next steps

1. A 30-minute conversation with you and your husband, in person or by phone, to walk through this.
2. A quick look at the renovation so I can pin down the list price and a photography date.
3. If it is a fit, set the Coming Soon and launch dates.
